

MORE CHOICES FOR SHIPYARDS

NAVY MOUNTS

Whether it's a more durable water collection funnel, an easier to install lead bin liner system, or a new acoustical tile for a critical noise absorption challenge, Greene Rubber has been providing engineered solutions to the Navy, Commercial Shipbuilders, and Repair Yards for eighty years. Now, at the request of the Navy, we have turned our expertise to the various series of resilient mounts that are used in pipe and machinery installations on virtually every submarine, destroyer and aircraft carrier built since World War II.

Greene Rubber Company is a small business enterprise established in Massachusetts in 1931. We have engineered, tooled, and qualified a number of shock mounts used in the shipbuilding industry including G Type pipe hanger mounts, Mare Island, and EES Type machinery mounts. These types of parts could previously only be sourced from one or two large, multi-national conglomerates causing price and delivery issues for shipbuilders and repair yards.
